SUMMER SESSION 2, AUGUST 3 - SEPTEMBER 5

CGS 101: GENDER & GLOBALIZATION
with Prof. Amanda Martin-Sandino
Tuesdays & Thursdays 11:00am-1:50pm

CGS 101 ties critical texts in transnational feminist studies to ongoing conversations about borders & globalization. Students will be asked to consider contemporary issues that stretch beyond borders with a focus on how these areas are influenced by & influence gender.

Together, we will consider questions such as: What role does gender have on immigration? What kinds of labor are feminized & extended beyond national borders? How are innovations in science & technology affected by ideas of gender & race? How does globalization affect access to health care?
